NEWSLETTER JUNE 2025

TIKEHAU 2029 – I-ACC-EUR

MARKET OUTLOOK

Geopolitics. Tensions in the Middle East escalated in June with Israeli and then American strikes on Iranian nuclear facilities. The Iranian response remained contained, with a symbolic attack on an American base in Qatar and a de-escalation around the Strait of Hormuz. Iran also hinted at a diplomatic outcome, easing tensions on the oil market: Brent crude fell back to $67, after peaking at close to $80. On the trade front, progress was made in Sino-American negotiations, notably with China granting temporary access to rare earth suppliers. The next key deadline remains July 9, when new US tariffs are due to come into force.

Macroeconomics. US activity remains solid, underpinned by the resilience of the labor market and wages. In the Eurozone, despite an upward revision of Q1 GDP (+0.6%), Q2 indicators point to a slowdown, penalized by the industrial downturn in Germany and France. Inflation is gradually decelerating in Europe, driven by lower energy prices, while services remain under pressure.

Central banks. The ECB cut rates by 25 bp in June, while adopting a more cautious tone going forward. The Fed kept rates unchanged, supported by resilient employment and persistent inflationary pressures. However, the market is anticipating two rate cuts between now and the end of the year, against the backdrop of an expected economic slowdown.

Financial markets. Equity markets diverged, with the S&P 500 up +5.0% and the Euro Stoxx 50 down -1.2%. In terms of interest rates, US yields fell (-18 bp at 2 years, -17 bp at 10 years), while European yields rose again (+11 bp for the 10-year Bund). Credit continued to show positive momentum, with risk premiums tightening on both Investment Grade (ER00®, -6 bp) and High Yield (HECO®, -16 bp). This favorable environment supported primary activity, with 29 high yield issues in Europe for a record 26 billion euros.

Fund positioning.

Tikehau 2029 posted a positive performance in June, significantly outperforming the European Investment Grade index (ER00®, +0.25%), used for information purposes only. This outperformance was mainly due to the significant tightening of risk premiums on subordinated financial bonds, which was more pronounced than on Investment Grade corporate and senior financial bonds, in line with what we had observed the previous month. Apart from the banking sector, the main positive contributor to performance in June, all other sectors also made positive contributions, led by materials, services and the consumer discretionary sector.

<sup>1</sup> The yield is a characteristic of the portfolio as of the date of this document: it is by no means an investment objective. It is calculated as a weighted average of our estimates of the yields of the bonds held in the portfolio until their likely call dates, as assessed by the asset management company (Tikehau IM). The yield may differ from the returns realized at the end of the product's life, notably depending on the reinvestment conditions of cash generated by potential redemptions or refinancings between their effective dates and the maturity of the product. The yield displayed does not take into account fees, potential hedging costs, and does not constitute a promise of return or performance of the fund. It may change over time depending on market conditions and does not reflect potential defaults by issuers. Furthermore, the net yield after fees will systematically be lower. Yield to maturity is not a reliable indicator of portfolio return and should under no circumstances be considered an investment objective or a guarantee. The yield is determined using a weighted average of the cross currency yields for each bond. The cross-currency yields are derived by applying FX forward curves to estimate the bonds' future cashflows in the share class currency.
