IMPORTANT BENCHMARK INFORMATION:
The Sub-Fund is actively managed, seeking to deliver excess returns over the Sub-Fund's benchmark. The holdings may or may not be components of the benchmark and the Investment Manager has broad discretion to deviate from the benchmark securities, weightings and risk characteristics. The degree to which the Sub-Fund resembles the composition and risk characteristics of the benchmark is not a specifically targeted outcome and could vary over time, and the Sub-Fund's performance may be meaningfully different from the Sub-Fund's benchmark. Source of benchmark: MSCI/JACI. The benchmark is used for information purposes only and is calculated dividend reinvested. No benchmark is directly identical to the Sub-Fund and its performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the Sub-Fund. The benchmark is 60% MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan Daily Total Return Net and 40% JACI Composite TR Index. From 1 January 2000 to 30 June 2005, the benchmark of the Fund was a blended index: 20% Lehman Emerging Asia / 5% HSBC HK bond / 5% UOB Government bond Index. From 1 July 2005 to 31 December 2011, the benchmark of the Fund was 70% MSCI AC Asia ex Japan Daily Total Return and 30% HSBC Asian US Dollar Bond Total Return Net Index. From 1 January 2012 to 31 May 2015, the benchmark of the Fund was a blended index of 50% MSCI AC Asia ex Japan Daily Total Return Net Index and 50% HSBC Asian US Dollar Bond Total Return Net Index. From 1 June 2015 to 23 September 2018, the benchmark of the Fund was a blended index of 50% MSCI AC Asia ex Japan Daily Total Return Net and 50% JACI Composite TR Index.

GLOSSARY
Alpha: Measures the relative performance generated by the fund compared to the benchmark. An alpha of 1.0 indicates that the fund has outperformed its benchmark by 1%, after adjusting for risk of the benchmark.
Beta: Reflects sensitivity of the fund's returns to that of benchmark returns. A beta of 1.05 suggests that the fund could perform 5% better than the benchmark in up market and 5% worse in down market, assuming all other factors remain constant.
Exit Fee: Fee charged to investors when they redeem units from a fund.
Information Ratio: Measures the funds returns above the benchmark returns relative to the risk (volatility) of the excess returns. It is a measure that identifies the consistency of the manager to outperform the benchmark.
Initial Fee: Fee charged to investors when they purchase units in a fund.
Management Fee: Percentage of the fund's assets that unitholders pay annually as remuneration to the investment adviser for managing the fund.
Ongoing Charge / Ongoing Charge Fee (OCF): Charge unitholders pay annually which relates to the costs of running a fund. The OCF takes into account the Investment Management Fee and all the expense of running a fund.
R Squared: Reflects the proportion of fund performance explained by changes in the benchmark. A high R-squared indicates the fund's performance has been in line with the benchmark. A low R-squared indicates the fund's performance has not been in line with the benchmark.
Service Fee: Percentage of fund's assets that retail unitholders pay annually for distribution services.
Sharpe Ratio: Measure of the fund's risk adjusted performance calculated as the portfolio returns in excess of the risk-free rate, divided by the risk (volatility) i.e. the Standard Deviation. The higher the Sharpe Ratio the better the returns compared to the risk taken.
Total Expense Ratio (TER): Estimated percentage (annualized) of fund assets used to pay for management fees and operating expenses, including service fees (if any) incurred by the fund. Fund expenses are reflected in the NAV. When calculating the TER, PineBridge has used the amount of expenses that it has received or estimated in its capacity as the Fund's Manager. Please note that the expense ratio includes variable expenses that are based on a number of factors including fund size, transactions, and other expenses. No assurance can be given that the TER will be realized over any future given period.
Tracking Error: Reflects the degree of variability of fund returns in relation to the benchmark. The lower the number the closer the fund's historic performance is to the benchmark.

KEY RISKS

Potential Investors should consider the following key risks before investing in the Sub-Fund:

Fixed Income Default Risk: The failure of an issuer or a counterparty to meet its payment obligations of a financial asset in the Sub-Fund will have a negative impact on the Sub-Fund. Interest Rate Risk: Fixed income securities are typically interest rate sensitive, therefore changes in interest rates can result in positive or negative fluctuations in the value of the assets held by the Sub-Fund. Equity Investing Risk: The value of shares and securities related to shares may fall due to issuer related issues, financial market dynamics and world events including economic and political changes. Derivative Risk: A Sub-Fund may use derivative instruments for both efficient portfolio management and for investment purposes. Derivative transactions may be subject to significant volatility which may result in a loss greater than the principal amount invested. Counterparty Risk: A Sub-Fund may have credit exposure (by virtue of position in swaps, repurchase agreements, FDI etc.) to its trading parties and may bear the risk of default of the counterparties. Operational Risk: A Sub-Fund may risk loss resulting from process failures, inadequate procedures or controls. Currency Risk - Base Currency: Securities may be denominated in currencies different from the Sub-Fund's Base Currency and there is a risk that changes in exchange rates and exchange control regulations may cause the value of the assets expressed in the Base Currency to rise or fall. Emerging Markets Risk: Emerging markets are typically smaller, less transparent, and subject to evolving, less stable political and regulatory regimes and securities from these markets may be more expensive to transact in, bear higher risk or have lower liquidity. Risks Relating to China: Risks of investing in China arise from an uncertain taxation and political regime, restrictions on inward investment, dealing in closed currency and custody arrangements which are not to the same standard as those in developed markets and where the Sub-Fund invests in eligible China A-Shares via the Stock Connect, such investments are subject to risks including market, suspension and operational risks. Liquidity Risk: The risk that the Sub-Fund may invest some of their assets in illiquid securities and other illiquid financial instruments, in respect of which they may not always be possible to execute a buy or sell order at the desired price or to liquidate the open position. Below Investment Grade Debt Securities Risk: Where Sub-Funds invest in securities rated below investment grade, also known as high yield securities, they may be subject to a greater credit, liquidity and market risk than investment grade debt securities. Commodity Risk: The Sub-Fund may invest in commodities by synthetically replicating the performance of a commodities index. The underlying index may concentrate investment on selected commodity futures of multinational markets. Prices of commodities are influenced by, among other things, macro-economic factors such as changing supply and demand relationships, weather conditions and other natural phenomena, agricultural, trade, fiscal, monetary, and exchange control programmes and policies of governments (including government intervention in certain markets) and other unforeseeable events. ESG Risks: Risks associated with the environmental, social and governance variables, which could potentially affect the financial situation or operating performance of the Fund. These include sustainability risk, ESG Categorisation Risk and ESG Data Risk. Country Concentration Risk: An investment strategy with a higher geographic concentration may be subject to a greater degree of volatility and risk and may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event affecting a particular region that the Sub-Fund concentrates in, than a portfolio which is diversified across different geographic regions. Smaller Companies Risk: Smaller companies are likely to be traded in lower volumes than more established large companies. Consequently, these securities may be more illiquid and subject to more volatility. In addition, the quality, reliability, transparency and availability of information on such companies may be more limited. Rules regulating corporate governance on small companies may be less developed or less stringent. Risks associated with QFI scheme: The Sub-Fund may suffer substantial losses if the approval of the QFI status is being revoked/terminated or otherwise invalidated as the Sub-Fund may be prohibited from trading of relevant securities and repatriation of the fund's monies. ETF and CIS Investment Risk: ETF and CIS investments can have added tracking error risk and concentration risk as securities can be held in proportions that differ slightly or materially from the proportions of the benchmark index. Some ETFs may also make use of financial derivative instruments to track the performance of certain securities that make up the benchmark index and are therefore subject to derivative risks. There are also data risks and potential higher costs associated with these types of investment. Market Leverage Risk: Leverage gained from holding derivative positions creates investment risk with respect to a larger base of assets than the Sub-Fund would otherwise have and so magnifies the effect of any increase or decrease in the value of the Sub-Fund's underlying assets. Asset Allocation Risk: The performance of the Sub-Fund is partially dependent on the success of the asset allocation strategy employed by the Sub-Fund. There is no assurance that the strategy employed by the Sub-Fund will be successful and therefore the investment objective of the Sub-Fund may not be achieved. In addition, an asset allocation strategy may be periodically rebalanced and therefore incur greater transaction costs than a Sub-Fund with static allocations.

The risk factors described above should not be considered an exhaustive list of risks, which potential investors should consider before investing in the Sub-Fund. For more details on the fund's potential risks please read the Prospectus and Key Investor Information Document at pinebridge.com/funds
