Key Contributors

ASM International is a leading semiconductor capital equipment company that supplies wafer fabrication equipment to logic, foundry and memory companies. The primary equipment that ASM manufactures is tools that enable single-wafer atomic-level deposition (ALD) and epitaxy. Through superior technology, ASM holds a leading position in single wafer ALD and is increasing its market share in epitaxy. Both single-wafer ALD and epitaxy are required with greater intensity as semiconductor technology advances. In particular, single-wafer ALD use will likely increase as advanced semiconductor manufacturing transitions to the Gate All Around (GAA) process. These factors have led to ASM growing faster than the overall semiconductor capital equipment market, allowing the company to expand margins through operating leverage. As a result, operating margins have increased significantly from mid-teens pre-2019 to ~25% as of 2023. The stock outperformed in Q2 2025 as strong demand for Generative AI translates into higher capex for customers.

HD Hyundai Marine Solution (HMS) is an aftermarket parts and service provider to the shipping industry. The core business includes providing spare parts for ships (primarily engine parts), retrofits, and a software platform. HMS is part of the HD Hyundai Group, the largest shipbuilder globally and benefits from the group's customer relationships. HMS has outperformed in 2Q 2025 as the benefit from trends such as dual-fuel conversions and tightening environmental regulations has resulted in strong operating performance.

Vivara is Brazil's leading integrated jewelry retailer. With a strong brand built over more than 60 years, a vertically integrated business model, and effective inventory management, the company has consistently gained market share. Since its 2019 IPO, Vivara has increased its market share from ~10% to ~21% while earning attractive returns. The company has the potential to double its retail space over the next seven years, given the strong cash flow generation. In early 2024, the founder returned after a 13-year absence to assume the role of CEO. Despite initial market concerns, the company's operational performance surpassed previous benchmarks. The stock outperformed in Q2 2025 as the market regained confidence in the new management team. Additionally, the announcement of a share buyback program to repurchase up to 10% of the total outstanding shares helped support the share price.

Key Detractors

Alibaba Group, founded in 1999 by Jack Ma, is a China based company specializing in e-commerce, cloud computing, and digital media, with a diverse portfolio of businesses across China and globally. It is currently the largest e-commerce company in China by transaction value. Alibaba's main business segments include Core Commerce (e-commerce platforms such as Taobao and Tmall), Cloud Computing (Alibaba Cloud), Digital Media & Entertainment (Youku), International Commerce (AliExpress and Lazada), and China Wholesale & Other (wholesale and logistics services). Alibaba underperformed in 2Q CY2025 due to concerns over intensified competition from JD's entry into the food delivery segment this year, with implications for profitability ahead of 2Q25 earnings.

Raia Drogasil (RD) is Brazil's leading retail pharmacy chain (3,200 + stores spread across all regions in Brazil) with a market share of ~15%. RD has focused on a stable organic expansion plan. Its competitive advantage stems from a dense and efficiently run store network supported by a robust supply chain. RD has grown its sales from 2012 to 2024 at ~18% CAGR, while the number of stores has grown at ~12% CAGR. The unit economics of its mature stores are compelling, with an ROIC of >30%. Long-term secular drivers of the Brazilian pharma market include an ageing population and rising penetration of generics. Near-term stock weakness has been driven by a regulated drug price increase that lagged inflation, alongside rising competition in non-pharmaceutical segments.

Techtronic is a leading provider of power tools, primarily under the Milwaukee and Ryobi brands. Techtronic is a long-term beneficiary of the transition to cordless power tools. The company consistently introduces more new SKUs than its peers, resulting in a broader portfolio that enables it to lock customers into its battery platform. The US is Techtronic's largest market. Techtronic underperformed in 2Q 2025 due to concerns about tariffs, as the company has a significant manufacturing capacity in Asia and generates sales from the US.

Key risk factors:

Market and Selection Risk: Market risk is the risk that the market will go down in value, with the possibility that such changes will be sharp and unpredictable. Selection risk is the risk that the investments that a Fund's portfolio managers select will underperform the market or other funds with similar investment strategies.

Emerging and Frontier Markets Risk: Investing in emerging and frontier markets involves additional risks not typically associated with investing in more established economies and markets. Such risks may include greater social, economic and political uncertainty.

Risks associated with investments in China: The Fund's financial results could be adversely affected by adjustments in the PRC's state plans, political, economic and social conditions, changes in the policies of the PRC government and laws and regulations, in particular where investments are made through Stock Connect.

Currency Risk: Many of the Fund's investments will be denominated in currencies other than the currency of the share class purchased by the investor which may be affected by adverse currency movements. The Fund will not attempt to hedge against currency fluctuations.

Derivatives Risk: The Fund may invest in FDIs to hedge against risk and/or to increase return. There is no guarantee that the Fund's use of derivatives for either purpose will be successful. Derivatives are subject to counterparty risk (including potential loss of instruments) and are highly sensitive to underlying price movements, interest rates and market volatility and therefore come with a greater risk.

Operational Risk (including safekeeping of assets): The Fund and its assets may experience material losses as a result of technology/system failures, cybersecurity breaches, human error, policy breaches, and/or incorrect valuation of units.

Liquidity Risk: The Fund may invest in securities which may, due to negative market conditions, become difficult to sell or may need to be sold at an unfavourable price. This may affect the overall value of the Fund.

Equities Risk: The Fund may invest in equity securities which are subject to greater fluctuations than other assets. Factors which may affect the fluctuations include economic conditions, industry or company news. High volumes of trading may also see increased transaction costs.

Sustainability Risk: The Fund may be subject to sustainability risk which is the risk that an environmental, social or governance event or condition, if it occurs, may have a material negative impact on the value of an investment.

Attention is drawn to the risk that the value of the principal invested in the Fund may fluctuate.

For more information on risks, please see the section entitled "Investment Risks" in the Prospectus of the ICAV and Supplement of the Fund.
