Fund comment – GIS Euro Equity

Market review

Post a 3% rebound in July, the Euro Stoxx large has retreated by 2.6% in August. Over this month, the market has been impacted by on-going trade tensions but also Turkey « crisis » and uncertainties on upcoming budget in Italy. Beyond those macro factors, few companies have been penalised post warnings (Continental -20%) or specifics issues (Bayer -15%, Roundup litigation; Atlantia -29%, Genoa bridge collapse).

Earnings season is now over but releases show that upgrades momentum has slowed.

Among the most resilient sectors, there were IT, Medias and Real Estate.

Fund performance

Over the month and despite 5% cash allocation, the fund has underperformed its benchmark due to stock selection. Indeed, the fund has been affected by the under-performance of few stock bets (Continental, Bayer, K+S and ThyssenKrupp). On the contrary, our cautiousness on Italian names especially banks has been positive. In addition, the German pharma group Merck has delivered well during Q2 results.

Portfolio activity

Over the month, we have stayed with about 5% cash and above as the fund has faced large redemptions. In conjunction, the exposure to autos has been reduced (Daimler, Michelin) but also KPN as management could announce further capex to rollout fiber.

Outlook

Even if we see volatility coming back we still have a constructive view on European equity markets supported by continuing economic recovery. Nevertheless, even if the global growth is strong, we are very mindful about the risks (Italian politics, trade war, Turkey ...).
