Review & Outlook

Detractors

- Modestly long corporate risk (beta)
- CDS index outperformed cash bonds
- Subordinated debt overweights

Outlook

- Events in Ukraine make the outlook uncertain with many moving parts. As such, we feel it is an environment to keep risk close to home and protect capital for now.
- In our opinion, underlying growth in developed markets remains robust. If anything, current events should create even more inflationary pressure from rising commodity prices and supply-chain disruptions.
- We believe the US economy in particular is relatively insulated. European growth looks more vulnerable. In the UK, we see inflation expectations becoming a problem, so expect the Bank of England to continue tightening policy. A bias to run short duration in the UK and US against long duration in Europe makes sense to us given this view.
- We believe corporate bonds could benefit from a potential delay to the tapering of European Central Bank quantitative easing. Investors generally seem to have been conservatively positioned through the volatility, which should make for some solid technicals when newsflow improves. As ever, the uncertainties surrounding Ukraine make timing important, so having liquidity to allow us to be nimble will be critical.
- Corporate-credit investors are currently trying to grasp the impact of the Russia/Ukraine conflict on growth – and therefore earnings and the default cycle. However, we would highlight that geopolitical risk is another potential driver of issuer performance dispersion.
- Looking ahead, there are uncertainties surrounding Vladimir Putin's plans and the sanctions fallout, growth and inflation, and the resulting path of monetary policy – on top of the path and long-term implications of Covid. We believe these will likely lead to alpha opportunities from macro positioning, and from playing the geographic/sector/issuer performance dispersion that follows as the market starts to differentiate between the winners and losers. While low yields make market returns look more challenged, we believe the volatility should give opportunities to generate alpha from our approach of long/short investing and a capital-preservation mindset.

1. While gross of fee figures would reflect the reinvestment of all dividends and earnings, it would not reflect the deduction of investment management and performance fees. An investor's return will be reduced by the deduction of applicable fees which will vary with the rate of return on the strategy. For example, if there was an annualised return of 10% over a 5-year period then the compounding effect of a 0.60% management fee and a 0.20% performance fee would reduce the annualised return to 9.32% (figures used are only to demonstrate the effect of charges and are not an indicator of future performance). In addition, the typical fees and expenses charged to a strategy will offset the strategy's trading profits. A description of the specific fee structure for each BlueBay strategy is contained in the strategy's prospectus.
2. Performance shown for 1yr periods onwards are annualised figures.
3. Since Inception
4. Risk statistics are annualized and calculated using weekly data points since inception. Risk statistics will be produced once there are 3 complete months of data available; for meaningful results a minimum sample of 36 data points is recommended and where history is less than 3 years caution should be taken with the interpretation and representation of this data. Returns for periods of less than 1 year have not been annualised in accordance with current industry standard reporting practices.
5. The Fund AUM is stated on a T+1 basis and includes non-fee earning assets.
6. Benchmark:iBoxx Euro Corporates Index
7. CDS long exposure means sold protection and CDS short exposure means brought protection.
8. Fundamental ESG (Risk) Rating is assigned at an issuer level by BlueBay. Categories range from 'very high' to 'very low' ESG (Risk) Rating and is a function of the ESG risk profile of an issuer and how well it manages these risks.
9. Investment ESG Score is assigned at an issuer level by BlueBay unless otherwise stated (i.e. assigned at the security level). Scores ranges from '+3' through to '-3' and indicates the extent to which ESG is considered investment material, as well as the nature and scale of the materiality impact (i.e. positive credit impact, negative credit impact, no impact).
